D. GENERAL SPECIFICATIONS:

The Baldwin County Commission is requesting proposals for the performance of hazardous waste cleanup services and hazardous waste disposal in cases where the Baldwin County Commission is acting as the lead agency.

Since this Request for Proposal does not contain incident-specific information, which may affect the cost of service, proposals will be accepted on a time and materials basis. Please include with your proposal your markup for subcontractors (markup is not to exceed 10%). Note: markups for equipment, regular site costs (such as utilities) and primary contractor services (such as telephone calls, copying, mailing costs, meals, digital scanning, and lodging) will not be allowed under this contract.

E. SCOPE OF SERVICES

In general, the Contractor shall perform cleanup work in accordance with the current Baldwin County Commission, ADEM, EPA, or other regulatory agency procedures and at the direction of the Baldwin County Commission designated representative. Hazards may be petroleum based or other hazardous waste.

Hazardous incidents may include but are not limited to the following:

- A. Spills

- 1) Storage Tanks
 - 2) Fuel Tanks
 - 3) Tanker Trucks
 - 4) Shoreline Exposure from offshore or onshore
- B. Disposal of contaminated equipment (i.e. fire/emergency response equipment, etc.)
- C. Hazardous waste disposal (i.e. biohazards)

Details on specific hazard response activities are described below:

Responding to the hazard to assess work needed. The County Representative will assure notification to the National Response Center (NRC) as per federal requirements.

Site Specific Health and Safety Plan (HASP)

Performance of the hazard response requires the contractor to prepare a site-specific Health and Safety Plan (HASP) which complies with the requirements of 29 CFR 1910.120. The HASP may be prepared from a generic hazard response HASP.

The task specific HASP must comply with Federal 29 CFR 1910.120 "Hazardous Waste Operations and Emergency Response" (HAZWOPER) requirements. All contractor sub-contractors shall be covered by the HASP. The HASP, at a minimum, shall provide a well-organized structure for the hazardous waste activities related to the hazards of all incidents, and the specifics of this incident, indicating: specific organizational roles and responsibilities; that each project team has sufficient technical resources and training to complete their tasks; definition of roles, and communication channels; and emergency response routes and procedures.

This HASP will cover hazards associated with documented contamination at the incident and will also be used in areas where unknown contaminants are expected to be encountered. It includes on-site monitoring by an environmental professional in contaminated areas, soil and groundwater screening levels, required type of personal protective equipment and action levels to determine when each type of protective equipment is to be used, and minimum worker training requirements. In all cases, the Baldwin County Commission worker safety requirements including 29 CFR 1920.120 must be met and will be the responsibility of the response contractor.

Work Plan Development/Site Specific Cost Estimate

Once the emergency phase of the incident has been mitigated, cleanup activities require the preparation of a response plan and/or investigation work plan, which describes in detail the actions needed for additional cleanup and/or investigation. The activities performed during the investigation should be selected to achieve the goals stated below (see Phase II Hazard Investigation). The work plan will be submitted to and approved by Baldwin County Commission's designated representative prior to the start of additional work at the incident scene.

Additional cleanup of the incident will require a work plan with an approach to the cleanup, a cost estimate, and a schedule to perform the work. The investigation work plan will include a cost estimate and schedule for the investigation. The work plan must be approved by the Baldwin County Commission prior to the start of the investigation. If a reportable quantity has been released, the work plan will be submitted to ADEM for review.

Phase II Hazard Investigation

Once the cleanup is complete, an investigation into the remaining contamination from the incident may need to be performed to determine the type of contaminant, the remaining source(s), degree and extent of contamination at the incident, and to evaluate risk to sensitive receptors (this is similar to a Site Investigation). The contractor shall be capable of, or have subcontractors available to, at a minimum, perform the following investigation activities:

- Site survey (may include physical features, geological features, geophysical surveys, soil gas surveys);
- Site plan and location map preparation (including GPS location of the site [latitude/longitude, 5-meter accuracy]), surface and subsurface features, groundwater level contours, contaminant compound-specific concentration contours, site specific geologic maps);
- Identification of actual and potential hazardous waste sources;
- Identification of potential threats to ground water, surface water, and drinking water wells including information about the location of potential threats;
- Installation of monitoring wells, piezometers, test pits or other exploratory techniques for evaluation of the site (including direct-push technology);
- Collection and analysis of soil, soil vapor, sediment, water and air samples to determine type, degree, and extent of contamination. The contractor shall indicate their ability to perform low flow sampling;
- Determination of site specific geologic and hydrogeologic characteristics (including collection of core samples, soil characterization tests, vapor pump tests, aquifer pump tests, slug tests, geophysical surveys, fracture trace analysis);
- Determination of receptors impacted or threatened by contamination (including collection of air, soil, and water samples from receptor locations);
- Determination of exposure to released contaminants (including indoor air vapor surveys, packer tests);
- Ability to provide field screening and field analytical services. Examples of techniques that may be required are photoionization detector, explosimeter, %O₂-LEL meter, gas chromatograph, immunoassay, field laboratories, and detector tubes; and
- Contractors will have their Standard Operating Procedures for sample collection made available to the City upon request.

At the County's discretion, site investigation following a cleanup may be turned over to the Responsible Party or a Site Investigation Contractor.

Final Report

The Final Report shall meet all of the requirements that apply to the incident. In cases where all of the contamination has been cleaned up during the initial response phase, the report will include a description of the cleanup process, paperwork on the disposal of the waste, confirmatory sample results, and pictures/maps showing exactly what work was performed. The following laboratory quality control data shall be included with each analytical test results report, or made available upon request:

- Sample collection, extraction (if applicable), and analysis dates; Compound-specific practical quantization limits;
- For organics, the results of surrogate spikes and matrix spikes (reported as percent recoveries), and lab duplicates (reported as relative percent difference);
- For metals, the results spikes (reported as percent recoveries) and lab duplicates (reported as relative percent difference);
- For soils and sediments, the percent moisture must be reported, and the report must specify if the results are on a dry-weight basis or a wet-weight basis; and
- Identification of quality control data which falls outside of the acceptable range for the applicable method of analysis.

Miscellaneous Services

The Agency may, from time to time, require Contractor/Consultant services not specified in the work descriptions above (e.g. expert testimony, report preparation on special topics). The contractor shall be available for performing these miscellaneous services.

Disposal of Hazardous Wastes

The Contractor will be expected to dispose of or make arrangements to dispose of any collected hazardous waste following all appropriate regulations. If the Contractor plans on subcontracting this task, the Contractor will have to list the Sub-Contractor they are planning on using.
