Tide and Tigers open 2018 football season this weekend

The 2018 College Football season is here and is getting started with some of the season's highly anticipated games happening this Saturday. The No. 1 Alabama Crimson Tide will play the Louisville Cardinals in ESPN's game of the week in Orlando, Florida. Week 1 will also get an early playoff-type matchup between the No. 9 Auburn Tigers vs. the No. 6 Washington Huskies in the Chick-Fil-A kickoff game.

The Alabama Crimson Tide has dominated the offseason news with their quarterback competition between Jalen

Sports Analysis

Hurts and Tua Tagovailoa and as the reigning National Champions. They will be playing a Louisville team that was ranked third in total offense (544.9 yards per game) and 11th in points per game (38.1). The Cardinals did lose 2016 Heisman Trophy winning Quarterback Lamar Jackson in the offseason to the 2018 NFL Draft. They return all of their wide receivers including Jaylen Smith with 60 receptions for 980 yards and seven touchdowns last season.

The biggest battle of the game will be between the experienced receiver corps of the Cardinals and the Tide's defensive backs. Deionte Thompson does have starting experience in last year's CFB play-offs and will be a huge impact for the Tide's defense along with Raekwon Davis, Mack Wilson, and Anfernee Jennings.

Whoever starts at quarterback might get an easy transition to playing as the Cardinals return only two starters from last year's team that was ranked 70th in the nation in points allowed per game (27.4). The Tide came out of this past weekend as a 24-point favor over Louisville.

It is surprising that the Chick-Fil-A kickoff game between Washington and Auburn isn't College Football's game of the week. This matchup has all the hype and intensity of a college football playoff matchup. Whoever wins this game will get great votes in the ranking polls while the losing team won't be affected that much due to the high level of the game.

Both the Huskies (Pac-12) and the Tigers (SEC) are at the top of their respective conference with great offensive philosophies and tough defenses. Auburn is led by Jarrett Stidham, who is a preseason Heisman Trophy finalist favorite from many College Football analysts. He will need to make excellent reads and perform in a high-level against a Huskies defensive unit that is arguably one of the best.

The Huskies return all of their starting defensive backs from a defense that was ranked fifth in points allowed per game (16.1). The Tigers do not have an experienced running back but their receiver corps will be needed more. Ryan Davis and Darius

Slayton can be big-time wide outs with a strong performance against this highly talented Huskies defensive backfield.

The Tigers defensive line, led by Marlon Davidson and Dontavious Russell, might be the most crucial position group against Washington. They will need to clog the running room of the Huskies O-line, which returns four starters as Myles Gaskin will be a tough back to stop. Last year, Gaskin ran for 1,380 yards and 21 touchdowns from 222 rushing attempts. The Auburn Tigers came out of the weekend as a 2.5 point favorite over the Washington Huskies.
