middle of an Opioid overdose/abuse epidemic," says Dr. Dan.

Performing more than 3,100 joint replacements over his 23 year career, Dr. Dan began performing this new technique in 2016 and has used his pain block technique in more than 300 patients.

"Total Knee Replacement has traditionally been a very painful procedure requiring significant pain medications and often requiring

3-5 days in the hospital. Using the surgeon placed pain block and catheter placement we developed, has allowed us to reduce the need for Opioids, perform these surgeries as 23 hour "outpatient procedure" and with some patients we have been able to perform this surgery without the use of any opioids."

Dr. Dan developed his technique working for many hours in the Operating Room and the cadaver lab and has presented his technique to hundreds of surgeons around the United States, lecturing and teaching at medical schools and meetings from New York to California.

After lecturing recently at the 2018 California Orthopaedic Society's Annual Meeting Dr. Dan commented how he loves traveling and teaching other surgeons about his new technique, but what he enjoys most is seeing the results with his patients here at home.

"Routinely I share with my patients as we prepare for an upcoming surgery, My goal is to perform a pain free Total Knee Replacement without Narcotics...we are NOT there yet but we are getting really close."

Dr. Matthews is the Founder of Alabama Orthopaedic Sports Medicine, (AOSM) in Daphne and has been on the medical staff at Thomas Hospital since 1998. He performs most his surgeries at Thomas Hospital in Fairhope.

You can learn more about his technique and results at www.aosmsportsmedicine.com or follow his practice on Facebook at WEAREAOSM.
