

The Seal of the Federal Emergency Management Agency is the seal used by many state, local, and county Emergency Management Agencies and has only been replaced by modern seals and logos in recent years.

The Baldwin County Emergency Management Agency Seal includes the eagle adapted from the Great Seal of the United States and the shield of the Baldwin County Commission, representing vigilance and preparedness for the county. The olive branch symbolizes peace, the arrows represent war. The eagle faces right toward peace. The seal and its elements indicate the responsibility of the Baldwin County Emergency Management agency to prepare for and respond to natural and human-caused disasters, and to promote a state of preparedness and readiness among the people it serves.
